POSITIONING STATEMENT

The noni fruit has long been associated with well-being in Hawaiian culture. It's no surprise, since we now know that noni juice is packed with polysaccharides.

Modere Hawaiian Noni captures the critical phytonutrients and antioxidant properties in this specific blend of fruits to help you realize their optimal health benefits. Our Hawaiian noni fruit actually comes from Hawaii, where it is grown in mineral-rich volcanic soil to provide great health benefits to you.

Phytonutrients come from fruits and vegetables, and are used by the plants themselves to help protect themselves. Noni, blueberry and raspberry juices contain numerous phytonutrients that provide an added level of support for your cellular health.

Antioxidants fight free radicals, which are the atoms or molecules that roam your body stealing electrons from healthy cells, damaging the cells and preventing them from doing their job. This high-quality, carefully crafted supplement works synergistically to help maintain order in your cellular world.
